

Dear Patients

I am writing to let you know that with immediate effect I will be retiring from the practice of dentistry. This has been a very difficult decision as in the 37 years since my graduation I have loved and been very proud to be a member of the profession, however it is a decision I have had to make on medical advice. I have truly enjoyed my relationships with both patients and support staff over the years. Thank you all for your kindness and trust.

I am very happy to announce that Dr Adam Jones BDS(Hons), who joined the practice in 2011 and became a partner in 2014, will be taking over the practice, along with his wife Lisa. Those of you who have met Adam will know what a superb clinician he is. He is one of the few dentists with an Honours Degree, has exceptional clinical skills and a wonderful chairside manner. He cares deeply about his work, patients and family. I want to express my deep appreciation to the dedicated, friendly and caring clinicians and staff at Sixty Six Dental who have and will continue to provide individualised service with care, consideration and when appropriate, a sense of humour.

I appreciate that my absence has meant some disruption to appointments and thank you for bearing with us during this uncertain time. Now that I am retiring, Adam and Lisa will be selecting a dentist to take over my appointment book on a permanent basis. I hope you will continue to trust Sixty Six with your dental care.

I would like to thank all of you who have sent messages of goodwill during my illness and to everyone for the opportunity to be your dentist. Thank you for your loyalty and confidence in the practice. I wish you all the very best for the future.

With Deepest Gratitude

Leo Roche BDS
